Reference: Use of Force

Affected Personnel: All Personnel

Revision Date:

I. Policy:

It is the policy of the Roswell Police Department, in compliance with the Fourth Amendment of the United States Constitution, that our police officers shall use only that force which is reasonably necessary to maintain control of an incident, to effect lawful objectives or while protecting the lives of themselves or another.

This policy is intended to establish general guidelines for the Use of Force by department members. Nothing in this policy shall dictate that members always begin with the minimum level of force as circumstances may require the immediate use of less- than-lethal or deadly force options. Members are reminded, however, that the least amount of force necessary to accomplish the task shall be used.

Officers are permitted to use those tactics and weapons with which they are trained, qualified and certified. However, in life-threatening circumstances involving self-defense or the defense of others, any available tool, device or method of delivering deadly force may be used to stop life-threatening actions.

- A. The United States Supreme Court, in a case entitled Graham v. Connor, set forth the analytical model by which all use of force cases are reviewed. As required by Graham, an officer's use of force is assessed by examining the facts and circumstances known to the officer, including a review of the following:
 - 1. The severity of the suspect's crimes;
 - 2. The immediacy of the threat posed by the suspect to the safety of the officer or others; and
 - 3. Whether the suspect is actively resisting arrest or attempting to evade arrest by flight.
- B. As used by Graham, objective reasonableness is much like the related concepts of reasonable suspicion and probable cause. Objective reasonableness requires more than an officer's subjective belief about a suspect and the level of threat that the suspect poses. Indeed, an officer cannot base a decision to use force on a hunch, a feeling, or some other unquantifiable belief. It is an objective test which means that the officer's good faith beliefs for taking certain action are irrelevant.

- C. Instead, an officer must be able to identify specific and articulable facts which led to the officer's conclusion and subsequent decisions to act. Essentially, an officer must list the information that he or she observed, heard, or otherwise collected through reliable police channels along with the source of that information. Sometimes just as important, an officer must identify unknowns and why this lack of information is important to an assessment of the suspect's threat level. An officer may identify information collected which may only be apparent to a trained police officer.
- D. Based on those specific and articulable facts, an officer can then use his or her training and experience to interpret the known information and reach a reasonable conclusion as to the level of threat posed by the suspect. Stated another way, the conclusion an officer draws about a suspect must be based on the known facts apparent to the officer at the time.
- E. The "reasonableness" of a particular use of force must be judged from the perspective of a reasonable officer on the scene, rather than with the 20/20 vision of hindsight.... The calculus of reasonableness must embody allowance for the fact that police officers are often forced to make split-second judgments --This is why the Graham test is called objective reasonableness, not objective certainty.
- F. Reasonable force may be used by an officer in the performance of duties, when:
 - 1. To prevent a crime from occurring or interrupt a crime;
 - 2. To prevent someone from hurting themselves or another;
 - 3. To impose custody, overcome resistance, prevent assault on the officer or another person(s);
 - 4. or to accomplish law enforcement actions in all other circumstances where the use of force is necessary.

II. Definitions:

- A. Deadly Force: Any power set into motion or any action which, from the manner used, is likely to produce death or serious physical injury.
- B. Non-deadly Force: Any force used other than that which is considered deadly force.
- C. Serious Physical Injury: any physical injury to the body, including an injury that caused, either temporarily or permanently, partial or total physical disability, incapacity or disfigurement. (ADM.5.01 commentary)

- D. Reasonable Belief: The facts or circumstances the officer knows, or should know, are such as to cause an ordinary and prudent officer to act or think in a similar way under similar circumstances.(ADM.5.01 commentary)
- E. Less Lethal Force: Force that is intended to cause or which is likely to cause bodily harm and in certain circumstances may result in death or great bodily injury.
- F. Less Lethal Munitions: Munitions designed to incapacitate hostile individuals without causing death or great bodily harm, but, that possibility always exists even though the munitions are deployed properly.
- G. Imminent Danger: the immediate perception of a threatened or impending injury which would cause a reasonable and prudent officer to instantly raise their defense against such jeopardy or danger.
- H. Imminent Danger of Death: An immediate threat to the life or safety of an officer or another human being.
- I. Immediate Threat: Current indication or warning of probable harm
- J. Excessive force: Force used that is beyond the force a reasonable and prudent law enforcement officer would use under the circumstances.
(ADM.5.01 commentary)

III. Deadly Force

- A. The Roswell Police Department recognizes and respects the integrity and paramount value of all human life. Use of deadly force must be objectively reasonable under all the circumstances known to the officer at the time, therefore Roswell Police Officers are authorized to use deadly force when:
 - 1. The officer has a reasonable belief that the subject of such force poses an imminent danger of death or serious physical injury to the officer or to another person. (ADM.05.01c.)
 - 2. To prevent the escape of or to stop a suspected felon who has committed a crime involving infliction of serious physical injury or threat thereof and who has the ability to carry out that action or threat.
- B. The necessity to use deadly force arises when all other available means of preventing imminent danger of death or serious physical injury to officers or other persons have failed or would be likely to fail. Thus, employing deadly force is permissible when there is no safe alternative to using such force, and without it the officer or others would face imminent danger of death or serious physical injury. An officer is not required to place him or herself, another officer, a suspect, or the public in unreasonable danger of death or serious physical injury before using deadly force. Whenever feasible, a public officer should give warning prior to using deadly force.

- C. Determining whether deadly force is necessary may involve instantaneous decisions that encompass many factors, such as the likelihood that the subject will use deadly force on the officer or others if such force is not used by the officer; the capabilities of the subject; the subject's access to cover and weapons; the presence of other persons who may be at risk if force is or is not used; and the nature and the severity of the subject's criminal conduct or the danger posed.
- D. Deadly force should never be used upon mere suspicion that a crime, no matter how serious, was committed, or simply upon the officer's determination that probable cause would support the arrest of the person being pursued or arrested for the commission of a crime. The United States Supreme Court, in a case entitled Tennessee v. Garner, set forth the analytical model by which all use of force cases involving fleeing subjects are reviewed. As required by Garner, an officer's may use deadly force to prevent the escape of a fleeing subject if there is probable cause to believe:
 - 1. The subject has committed a crime involving the infliction or threatened infliction of serious physical injury or death, AND
 - 2. The escape of the subject would pose an imminent danger of death or serious physical injury to the officer or to another person. (ADM.05.01d)
- E. As used in this policy, "imminent" has a broader meaning than "immediate" or "instantaneous." The concept of "imminent" should be understood to be elastic, that is, involving a period of time dependent on the circumstances, rather than the fixed point of time implicit in the concept of "immediate" or "instantaneous." Thus, a subject may pose an imminent danger even if he or she is not at that very moment pointing a weapon at the officer or another if, for example, he or she has a weapon within reach or is running for cover carrying a weapon, closing distance on a potential victim or running to a place where the officer has reason to believe a weapon is available.

- F. Officers may also discharge a firearm under the following circumstances:
1. To safely destroy an animal that represents a threat to public safety or as a humanitarian measure where the animal is seriously injured;
 2. During qualifications, range practice, or sporting events.
 3. Officers in extreme circumstances may use "draw suppression" fire to drive a shooter back or draw a shooter away from innocent civilians. When in an active gunman situation or in a citizen/officer rescue an officer may need the use of suppression fire to gain an advantage over the active shooter. When applying suppressive fire the officer shall assure that his direction of fire is safe. The officer should consider applying the suppressive fire over the top of windows or doors at an upward angle, into the corner of a structure, or at the ground.
- G. In any surroundings there remains a heightened probability that a discharged projectile (bullet) could ricochet and/or return to the earth's surface (ground) and unintentionally strike an innocent or uninvolved citizen. Therefore, warning shots are prohibited, absent a justified emergency where doing so would save an officer, or another, from death or serious physical injury. Warning shots shall be fired in such a manner so as to not endanger innocent parties and with due regard for the officer's surroundings. (ADM.05.02)
- H. Officers should not discharge a firearm at or from a moving vehicle except as the ultimate measure of self-defense or defense of another.
1. When the only means of an assault on an officer is by motor vehicle,
 - a) Officers will not fire upon the vehicle if able to move out of the vehicle's path.
 - b) Officers must place themselves in the most tactically safe position possible.
 - c) Officers will not purposely place themselves in the path of a vehicle to justify the use of deadly force.
- I. Prohibited uses of deadly force:
1. Officers shall not unreasonably or unnecessarily endanger themselves or the public in applying deadly force pursuant to this policy or state law.

- b) An officer shall not rely solely on third party reports as a basis for use of Deadly Force, without firsthand knowledge of an alleged offense.
- c) An officer shall not use deadly force in situations that would not be in accordance with New Mexico State Statute.
- f) Officers shall not fire into a building or through doors unless the suspect can be identified and is clearly visible and the use of deadly force is authorized by this policy.

J. Training

- 1. Officers shall not be authorized to carry a firearm until they have received a copy of this Use of Force Policy and been trained in its proper application. (ADM.05.03)

IV. Reporting Procedures:

- A. In instances where police actions are used which result in death or great bodily harm, the reporting and investigation process will be followed in accordance with the Officer Involved Shooting policy.

V. Less than lethal force:

- A. Where deadly force is not authorized, officer(s) shall use only that level of force allowed by the Reactive Control Model for the given situation, and Officers will follow a force "continuum" in responding to perceived threats. Officer(s) are authorized to use Department-approved non-deadly-force techniques and issued equipment for which they are trained and certified. All Department Members who are trained with, and issued Less Lethal tools will be required to undergo refresher training and qualification (if applicable) at least biennially for any weapons other than firearms. Department members may use physical force and need not retreat or stop when physical force is necessary to effect an arrest, prevent an escape, or overcome resistance to lawful police action. (ADM.05.01b)

- 1. Use of empty hand techniques: Officer(s) are authorized to use empty-hand techniques (i.e.. distraction techniques, compliance holds, leveraged and impact takedowns) in compliance with the Reactive Control Model.

2. Oleoresin Capsicum (O.C.): Officer(s) are authorized to use Department-issued chemical agents for which they are certified and trained to use. The use of chemical agents by officer(s) shall comply with the Reactive Control Model.
- a) Members shall only carry a department issued O.C.
 - b) Any misuse of the O.C. aerosol spray shall be appropriately documented by supervisors. The O.C. canister shall be confiscated by the supervisor pending Administrative Review and Disciplinary Action.
 - c) Officers whose normal duties may require them to make arrests shall be required to carry O.C. spray while on duty.
 - d) Whenever practical and reasonable, officers should use their department issued digital recorder during the events surrounding the deployment of O.C.
 - e) As soon as practical, any person exposed to O.C. spray shall be given the opportunity and means to neutralize the effects of the spray.
 - f) Medical treatment shall be provided if the arrestee requests it or if deemed necessary by the officer.
 - g) In all instances notify jail personnel that the prisoner has been exposed to O.C. spray and inform them of proper treatment techniques should additional treatment be required.
 - h) All applicable reports will be completed.

3. Use of expandable baton: Officer(s) are authorized to use Department-issued expandable batons for which they are certified and trained to use. The use of the expandable baton by officer(s) shall comply with the Reactive Control Model.
- a) Department issued batons are the only batons authorized to be carried by members of the Roswell Police Department. No other baton will be carried or used.
 - b) Members shall not alter or modify the police baton in such a way as to deviate from its basic design. The addition of a flashlight to the ASP would not deviate from the basic design of the baton.

- c) Strikes to parts of the body capable of inflicting death (i.e., head, neck, spine and groin) shall be avoided unless deadly force would otherwise be justified.
- d) Batons shall be carried by uniformed patrol officers on traffic stops and whenever handling disturbance calls, contacting suspicious persons, making arrests, and for crowd control.
- e) Whenever a member is required to use a baton to effect an arrest, that arrestee shall be taken to nearest medical facility where they are to be examined and treated for any injury resulting from the use of the baton.
- f) The use of a baton is expected to leave immediate bruises or welts on the offender. These bruises, welts or any other visible injury to the offender shall be photographed by appropriate department personnel.
- g) All applicable reports will be completed.

4. Pepper Ball Launcher:

Officer(s) are authorized to use Department-issued pepperball launcher for which they are certified and trained to use. The use of the pepperball launcher by officer(s) shall comply with the Reactive Control Model. The Pepperball launcher system is designed to safely deploy O.C. from a greater distance. Pepperball Launcher can also be used as a tool for crowd control.

- a) All members shall be required to satisfactorily complete a user certification course approved and taught by the Training Division.
- b) Department issued PepperBall launchers are the only PepperBall delivery systems authorized to be used by members of the Roswell Police Department. No other delivery systems or personal paint guns will be carried or used. PepperBall rounds will only be fired from department issued PepperBall guns and will be used only in the line of duty or in approved training.
- c) Members shall not alter, adjust, or modify the PepperBall launcher in such a way as to change the pressure of the gun, the velocity of the rounds, or the basic design of the gun. The addition of lights and/or reflex sights may be added at the discretion of the Deputy Chief.

- d) The PepperBall launcher is a useful tool, especially in those controlled situations where an individual is armed with a blunt or edged weapon. The PepperBall launcher should be considered for use in conjunction with SIMS Munitions for resolving the situation.
- e) The effects of PepperBall, and SIMS may not always incapacitate an individual. As such, they should only be used when a deadly force option back up exists.
- f) Members should remain aware that the effects of the O.C. powder may vary between individuals, therefore, they must remain alert to the possibility that other means may be necessary to subdue the offender.
- g) When deploying the PepperBall launcher to saturate an area or when directed at offender(s), members should consider environmental issues such as wind and rain and be aware of accidental contamination of other officers and bystanders.
- h) The PepperBall launcher shall never be used to target the head or spine of an offender unless deadly force would otherwise apply.
- i) Treatment of Offenders:
 - 1) As soon as practical, any person exposed to OC Powder shall be given the opportunity and means to neutralize the effects of the powder.
 - 2) Exposed persons should wash the affected area with cold water only. Do not use any creams, ointments, or bandages on the affected areas.
 - 3) Medical treatment shall be provided if the arrestee requests it or if deemed necessary by the officer.
 - 4) In all instances, notify jail personnel that the prisoner has been exposed to O.C. Powder and inform them of proper treatment techniques should additional treatment be required.

j) Documentation:

1) The use of the PepperBall System is expected to leave immediate bruises or welts on the offender. These bruises, welts or any other visible injury to the offender shall be photographed by appropriate department personnel.

2) All applicable reports will be completed

k. High Pressure Air Charging:

1) As with any high-pressure system, caution must be exercised to prevent a hazardous situation. The High Pressure Air Tanks for refilling bottles to power the SA200 will be kept in a secure location. Everyone attending the PepperBall Certification course will be qualified to charge his/her own bottle, but for increased safety, two persons will be present when recharging.

5. Use Electro-Muscular Disruption-(Advanced Taser):

Officer(s) are authorized to use Department-issued Electro-Muscular Disruption-(Advanced Taser) for which they are certified and trained to use. The use of the Electro-Muscular Disruption-(Advanced Taser) by officer(s) shall comply with the Reactive Control Model. The taser is a police tool, which is listed in the force continuum at the same level as O.C. and baton.

- a) Decision to use the Taser is based on the same criteria an officer uses when selecting to deploy O.C. or baton.
- b) The Taser is not meant to be used in deadly force situations. The Taser should not be used without a firearm as a backup in those situations where there is a substantial threat towards the officer or others present.
- c) Department personnel shall only carry and use Advanced Tasers or electrical incapacitation devices approved by the Chief of Police. The Advanced Taser will only be carried cross draw from primary weapon hand and should be across the center of the body.
